

The Bulletin

Norwich, Monday, July 20, 1914.

VARIOUS MATTERS

Some of the Sunday strollers in the country brought home the first of the ox-eye daisies.

All about town the delicate pink Dorothy Perkins roses are a sight on arbutus and trellises.

Edward Chappell of Montville has a valuable pair of horses to Elmer Piersen of Norwich.

Look at your water bill. Additions after the 20th.—adv.

Saturday's hot sun afforded the farmers an opportunity to get their hay well dried at last.

The New Haven railroad has assembled a large number of the Gales Ferry station for coming road repairs.

The molting season has begun and as the hens refuse to supply the market, the price of eggs has gone up in many towns.

A former Norwich pastor, Rev. W. T. Thayer and boys who have been with him at East Hampton lake, have returned to Wallingford.

Guess I will pay that water bill today. Additions after the 20th.—adv.

Postcards from delegates to the Elks' convention at Denver are reaching local friends. The Connecticut delegation is homeward bound.

A local man who was home from his shore cottage Saturday, said that up to that day the season had been one of chiefly mosquitoes and fogs.

Have you paid your water bill? Additions after the 20th, you know.—adv.

At Block Island the other afternoon Arthur N. Sheffield returned with a tuna fish weighing 20 pounds, after a short sail within sight of the New harbor.

The new freight room at Groton Long Point, which has been in the process of construction for the past few weeks, has been completed and is ready for use.

A Bethel correspondent states that Mrs. Clarence Shay of Groton and Mrs. Roger Spicer of New London are visiting at the home of their uncle, Arthur H. Senior.

The man struck by a train at Athol, Mass., and thought to be Eugene Cousins, because he had a Yankee spelling in his name, died in the Greenfield hospital.

News has been received that the Rockville Boy Scouts, who walked nearly 135 miles during their hike through here and New London, are safe at home, having had the best time ever.

Bay View hotel, Niantic, Conn., now open. Rebuilt, newly furnished, fine air, good fishing, boating, bathing. Terms moderate.—adv.

Rudolph Shultz of New York has rented the Gregson cottage in Neptune park for the summer. The Gregson family, who have been occupying the cottage, have returned to Norwich.

When Miss Mary Bentley of Neptune park entertained at the Golden Spur Thursday evening, the trip being made by automobile and the evening spent in dancing, guests included Miss Bertha Hutzler of Norwich.

Connecticut delegates to the forty-ninth national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, at Norfolk, Va., here on Sunday morning, arriving on special Pullman cars, arriving in Norfolk at 9 o'clock this (Monday) morning.

A representative of the National Highway Protective society from New York, is on his way through towns in lower Connecticut, inspecting the signs erected along the roads and highways. Some, if not all are not permissible according to law.

The estimated population of each state of the union on July 1, 1914, and the population on April 15, 1910, given in a table published Saturday shows that the population of Connecticut is now 1,202,488, as compared with 1,114,756 in 1910.

The members of the Methodist Sunday school at Moosup, and their friends went down on the Block Island Saturday, on their outing to Ocean Beach. Trolley cars were run by three to the beach during the late afternoon, to accommodate the crowds.

The following typewriter clerks passed the examination held at the capital July 7, as reported by the civil service commission: Lulu P. Abel, Norwich, 82.74; Anna C. Foley, Middlebury, 83.81; Frances O. Schneider, Southville, 82.67; Mary A. Donahue, Southville, 82.45; Frank H. Bullard, Middletown, 80.69.

CITY OF NORWICH

CAPTURE TOWN OF ROSARIO.

Near Lower California—Fight Lasted Six Hours

On Board U. S. S. California, La Paz, July 18, Via Wireless to San Diego, Calif. July 19—Eight hundred constitutionalists were landed last night at Rosarito, La Paz, Lower California. The Carranzanista governor of Lower California demanded the surrender of the city and upon being refused, he ordered an attack at 8 o'clock this morning. The fighting lasted six hours, there being much fighting from house to house. The federalists retreated toward Rosarito.

Three federal officers were executed this afternoon. Many foreign refugees went aboard American ships in the harbor.

Political Gossip

Chance to Judge.

The following letter has been sent to C. W. Comstock by Prof. Fisher: My Dear Mr. Comstock: Some little time ago I received a notice of your candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor. With a purpose of finding how widely the voters of the state approve those principles of progressive democracy to which I, with others, am devoted, I am soon to begin a considerable series of talks in the different parts of the state. I can think of no better or more democratic way for the people to judge between us—or between any two candidates for their trust—and between the policies which we offer in office, than by meeting us face to face, hearing us and asking us questions. Therefore, I would suggest that we go about the state together, in every possible way I shall be delighted to meet your wishes as to dates, places and other conditions.

I trust that this democratic proposal may have your hearty approval and that you will favor me with an early reply so that our appeal to the membership of our party need not be delayed.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

PERSONALS

William Mitchell has returned to Groton from Norwich.

At Hotel Seaview, Westport, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cook of Norwich were registered recently.

Recent guests at Fenwick Hall, Saybrook, were John A. Chapman, W. S. Davenport, Norwich.

Miss Elizabeth McBurney of 34 Lafayette street has resigned her employment at the Falls mill.

William McBurney of 34 Lafayette street leaves today for a two weeks' vacation in New York city.

Miss Lillian Felix and Dewey Felix of this city were the guests of friends at Lord's Point on Sunday.

Miss Carrie Lyon of New Haven was the week end guest of relatives and friends at her former home in this city.

Misses Grace and Vera Stetson of Norwich have returned from spending a week with their sister, Mrs. Oliver Neff of Hartford.

Arthur Strickland, who was machinist at the Bank mill, burned at Palmerston, is now with the Barnes Specialty Co. in Uncasville.

Daniel J. Johnston of Cliff street was a visitor in Pawtucket, R. I., on Sunday, going by way of Plainfield and returning by New London.

On Sunday Emory Card and Raymond Lanoie left for a trip to New York, via Point Comfort and Richmond, Va. They will be gone about a week.

Guess I will pay that water bill today. Additions after the 20th.—adv.

Postcards from delegates to the Elks' convention at Denver are reaching local friends. The Connecticut delegation is homeward bound.

A local man who was home from his shore cottage Saturday, said that up to that day the season had been one of chiefly mosquitoes and fogs.

Have you paid your water bill? Additions after the 20th, you know.—adv.

At Block Island the other afternoon Arthur N. Sheffield returned with a tuna fish weighing 20 pounds, after a short sail within sight of the New harbor.

The new freight room at Groton Long Point, which has been in the process of construction for the past few weeks, has been completed and is ready for use.

A Bethel correspondent states that Mrs. Clarence Shay of Groton and Mrs. Roger Spicer of New London are visiting at the home of their uncle, Arthur H. Senior.

The man struck by a train at Athol, Mass., and thought to be Eugene Cousins, because he had a Yankee spelling in his name, died in the Greenfield hospital.

News has been received that the Rockville Boy Scouts, who walked nearly 135 miles during their hike through here and New London, are safe at home, having had the best time ever.

Bay View hotel, Niantic, Conn., now open. Rebuilt, newly furnished, fine air, good fishing, boating, bathing. Terms moderate.—adv.

Rudolph Shultz of New York has rented the Gregson cottage in Neptune park for the summer. The Gregson family, who have been occupying the cottage, have returned to Norwich.

When Miss Mary Bentley of Neptune park entertained at the Golden Spur Thursday evening, the trip being made by automobile and the evening spent in dancing, guests included Miss Bertha Hutzler of Norwich.

Connecticut delegates to the forty-ninth national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, at Norfolk, Va., here on Sunday morning, arriving on special Pullman cars, arriving in Norfolk at 9 o'clock this (Monday) morning.

A representative of the National Highway Protective society from New York, is on his way through towns in lower Connecticut, inspecting the signs erected along the roads and highways. Some, if not all are not permissible according to law.

The estimated population of each state of the union on July 1, 1914, and the population on April 15, 1910, given in a table published Saturday shows that the population of Connecticut is now 1,202,488, as compared with 1,114,756 in 1910.

The members of the Methodist Sunday school at Moosup, and their friends went down on the Block Island Saturday, on their outing to Ocean Beach. Trolley cars were run by three to the beach during the late afternoon, to accommodate the crowds.

The following typewriter clerks passed the examination held at the capital July 7, as reported by the civil service commission: Lulu P. Abel, Norwich, 82.74; Anna C. Foley, Middlebury, 83.81; Frances O. Schneider, Southville, 82.67; Mary A. Donahue, Southville, 82.45; Frank H. Bullard, Middletown, 80.69.

CITY OF NORWICH

CAPTURE TOWN OF ROSARIO.

Near Lower California—Fight Lasted Six Hours

On Board U. S. S. California, La Paz, July 18, Via Wireless to San Diego, Calif. July 19—Eight hundred constitutionalists were landed last night at Rosarito, La Paz, Lower California. The Carranzanista governor of Lower California demanded the surrender of the city and upon being refused, he ordered an attack at 8 o'clock this morning. The fighting lasted six hours, there being much fighting from house to house. The federalists retreated toward Rosarito.

Three federal officers were executed this afternoon. Many foreign refugees went aboard American ships in the harbor.

Political Gossip

Chance to Judge.

The following letter has been sent to C. W. Comstock by Prof. Fisher: My Dear Mr. Comstock: Some little time ago I received a notice of your candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor. With a purpose of finding how widely the voters of the state approve those principles of progressive democracy to which I, with others, am devoted, I am soon to begin a considerable series of talks in the different parts of the state. I can think of no better or more democratic way for the people to judge between us—or between any two candidates for their trust—and between the policies which we offer in office, than by meeting us face to face, hearing us and asking us questions. Therefore, I would suggest that we go about the state together, in every possible way I shall be delighted to meet your wishes as to dates, places and other conditions.

I trust that this democratic proposal may have your hearty approval and that you will favor me with an early reply so that our appeal to the membership of our party need not be delayed.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

Up to a late hour Saturday no reply had been received.—Hartford Times.

LIVE WIRE AND POLICE

Woman Arrested for Shop-lifting in Main Street Store—Fight in Saloon With Glasses Lands One Man in Hospital—Man Who Invaded Boarding House in Custody.

Evidently there was more than the usual amount of turbulence in Norwich over this week end, for in addition to a considerable list of minor offenses, a couple of fights, a salaried policeman, one of which sent a man to the hospital. A woman was arrested for shop-lifting in a Main street store, all on Saturday evening and then the middle of Sunday afternoon, an automobile, together with four officers, was requisitioned to round up and fetch in the police station a boisterous drinking party. In all there will be twenty cases in city court this morning, for there were 18 arrests, for the case of Harry Smith, charged with embezzlement, will come up again this morning having been carried over from Saturday night. A dispute over the young man's counsel, Roderick M. Douglas. Friends of his have been trying in numerous sources to raise the $200 necessary for his bond, but Sunday evening he was still confined in his room at the station. The delays have led to the expectation that the case may be settled out of court.

One of the fights of the Saturday case was that of a man who became obnoxious and created a disturbance on a trolley car on the Taftville line. The passenger refused to pay his fare and as a result he was taken over to Officer Murphy and Fenton.

At the saloon of B. Katz and company on West Main street an altercation broke out between a man and James Minnehan, 35, of Greenville and the latter took action by hurling a glass at the man behind the bar. The missile did not strike its intended mark but instead landed in some more glass ware, the splintering of which caused the man to be taken to the hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

Evidently there was more than the usual amount of turbulence in Norwich over this week end, for in addition to a considerable list of minor offenses, a couple of fights, a salaried policeman, one of which sent a man to the hospital. A woman was arrested for shop-lifting in a Main street store, all on Saturday evening and then the middle of Sunday afternoon, an automobile, together with four officers, was requisitioned to round up and fetch in the police station a boisterous drinking party. In all there will be twenty cases in city court this morning, for there were 18 arrests, for the case of Harry Smith, charged with embezzlement, will come up again this morning having been carried over from Saturday night. A dispute over the young man's counsel, Roderick M. Douglas. Friends of his have been trying in numerous sources to raise the $200 necessary for his bond, but Sunday evening he was still confined in his room at the station. The delays have led to the expectation that the case may be settled out of court.

One of the fights of the Saturday case was that of a man who became obnoxious and created a disturbance on a trolley car on the Taftville line. The passenger refused to pay his fare and as a result he was taken over to Officer Murphy and Fenton.

At the saloon of B. Katz and company on West Main street an altercation broke out between a man and James Minnehan, 35, of Greenville and the latter took action by hurling a glass at the man behind the bar. The missile did not strike its intended mark but instead landed in some more glass ware, the splintering of which caused the man to be taken to the hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Marion Nelson, who is a small built Italian woman, claimed to be the wife of a sea captain and while he is on the ocean, she has an existence by serving as chambermaid in the district in many countries. Here and there, she is found in various places, being detected in the Woolworth store on Main street.

In the neighboring saloon at the corner of West Main and Thames streets, glass throwing reached even greater proportions and as a result of the fracas, a man named Busch was carried to the Backus hospital with a gash on his forehead.

His assailant made his escape on a car bound for New London.

Mar